Run #114

There was I - together with the other hashers, happily waiting to sweat out the week's singing and work. When all of a sudden, the heavens decided to do a mighty sweat-out. The skies were black, it was pouring cats & dogs, there was lightning and thundering and the dark forest ahead. What more can you ask for? Some 60 smiling Hashers & friends? Why are they smiling in spite of the conditions? Veteran Hashers and confirmed Masochists - all of them.

We started into the forest; the pack was kept very close together because of the treacherous, slippery terrain. Round & round we went - some of us absolutely certain we had just been there not too long ago. Into deeper jungle more thunder and lightning overhead. Trees are known to be excellent conductors of lightning - but did we worry about that? No! We plunged on - into a swift ready-made stream, arranged for run benefit by the hares. Rain never stopped as we trashed our way through the undergrowth - slushy and all onto a track!!! and then back into the darkening jungle.

The checks were good; the front runners did some work and the back runners were able to catch up. Finally reached the beer-wagon - all drenched & slushed. Rain was even heavier than ever. So the ON-ON had to be called off-site - at the Unicorn Restaurant.

Understood they had lots of good Thai food and can ON-ON-ON at waterhole Pub.

A good run, Hares!
